A Bunnway Locomotive and the Bac Monday morning, just before 7 o'clock, the locomotive of the gravel train on the Illinois Central Railroad, detached from the train, was standing at the Upper Depot in this city. It had been fired up, preparatory to work, the proper valves left open and the proper ones shut for its stationary security, as the engineer avers, while he went in to eat his breakfast. Soon after, from some unexplained cause, the locomotive was seen moving along the track at a moderate pace towards Dunleith. It passed the Lower Depot in this unattended and independent state until it came to the Railroad Bridge, which was drawn. It approached the chasm boldly, leaped off surely, fell about eighteen feet perpendicularly, and was smashed to pieces inevitably.—Galena Adcertiser, 30th.

Douglas, Harper and Bonner.

The exact amount paid by the Harpers to Mr. Douglas has not yet transpired; but, as his piece has saved the enterprising publishers at least a thousand dollars in first rate advertising, which has run the sale of their magazine nearly up to the level of the Ledger, the literary Senatorought to have got much more than was paid to either Judas or the Regency. Twenty or thirty pieces of silver would be but poor remuneration for a mode of putting so original that, if patented, it would be cheap at any price. He must have got seven hundred and fifty dollars at least—a sum which will sound largely among the contributions to some founding hospital or Shooting by a Baltimore Editor.

(From the Baltimore Soa, of August 27th.)

About half past two o'clock yesterday afternoon, the neighborhood of the corner of Baltimore and Hanover streets, was thrown into intense excitement in consequence of a rencounter in an omnibus, and the shooting of Paul Placide by Henry M. Fiizhagh, Esq., one of the proprietors of the Daily Exchange newspaper. It appears, from information gathered from those who witnessed the affair, that Placide called at the office of the Exchange, at the corner of North and Baffmore streets, and asked one of the clerks what news they had on the balletin. At that time Mr. F. stepped into the office and immediately stepped to the sideault again. He was followed by Placide who spoke to Mr. F. about his name having appeared in a police report in his paper, and used some offensive language. Sergeant McComas, who was near, wasked up to Placide and told him to go away; that there must be no disturbance. At that moment one of the Franklin Square omnibuses came along, which Mr. F. got into and started up town. Placide followed rapidly and also got into the vehicle, and Placide was noticed by Sergeant McComas to gesticulate violently, the officer having followed closely after. Some ladies at that time left the omnibus. When the omnibus feached the corner of Hanover street, Placide and Mr. Fitzhugh came into personal collision, and the report of a pistol, supposed to have been fired by the latter, was heard. The ball passed entirely through the under part of the arm of Placide, near the show, and the last through his left hand, near the lower joint of his thumb, the powder from which burned the hand of the afficer. Sergeant McComas was on hand, and calling officer Hales, arrested both of the parties. A large crowd of persons had then gathered, and much nudigatation was exhibited by them. Both parties were taken before Justice McKiniley, when Mr. Fitahugh was admitted to ball in the sum of £1,000 for a further hearing, Charles H. Pitts, Esq., having become his s

The Doctors have saved us all a great deal of trouble by agreeing upon a verdict in the case of New York against the Croton Aqueduct. The chemist and the botanist have done their worst, and the water which has been for weeks past in such ill odor has now a scientific right to amell sweet once more. In point of fact, it appears that the Croton water is purer just at the present moment than it has ever been before. Its peculiar factor is merely the result of the presence of unusual quantities of a "microscopic conferra-like plant, soluble to some extent in water." In other words, we have only been drinking a mid kind of cold herb tea, not at all unwholesome. In his enthusiam for science, one of the examiners, Dr. Chilhon, declarant that he likes this proular decorbion. Perhaps we shall all come to like it, too, in time. Neither had any information been received as to the reported proclamation of the Republicans in Parma, as announced in the Vienna journals.

The official investigation and the loss of the steamship Argo hadterminated, but the decision would not be made public until it was communicated to the Board of Trade. It was understood, however, that the assessors give it as their opinion that the loss of the ship did not arise from any wilful act on the part of the Captain, but that it was a grave omision by him in not having siewed his vessel on the coming on of the fog. This finding is to be secompanied with a an 26-2w

The Liverpool A bion, in announcing Mr. Whyke's projected departure for the Isthmas by the steamer leaving Southampton on the seventh of August, says: "Unless Mr. Whyke be crippled in his actions by secret dispatches from home, his countrymen may expect shortly to see some practical evidence of sound policy, which, while respecting the rights of Central America and assisting in the developing of free routes of transit, shall at the same time maintain the rights of Her Msjesty and her subjects in this hitherto neglected but important corner of the Queen's dominions. Mr. Whyke has been made Companion of the Bath.

PRANCE.

On Sunday a grand banquet was given by the Emperor to the principal chiefs in the army About three hundred persons were invited. At the close of the banquet the Emperor spoke as follows:

"Gentlemen, the joy I experience at finding myself again with most of the chiefs of the army of Italy, would be complete if it were not tinged with regret to behold soon the dissolution of the elements of a force so well organized and formidable. As a sovereign and a commander-in-chief. I thank you again for your confidence. It was flattering to me—who had never commanded an army—to find so much obedience on the part of men who had great experience in warrare. merchant of Lafayette, with his little son of six years, started on a short trip for mere recreation to Chicago, taking only one change of clothing and $15 in money. He has not been heard of since, except at the hotel here, where he stayed over night, took breakfast, and paid his bill. Thence all trace of him has been lost. His partner, Mr. Johnson, has been hunting for him with great assiduity lately, but without success. Our detectives have been put to work to look for him, and it is hoped they may ascertain his fate.

Mr. Cyrenius Johnson, the business partner of the missing Mr. Patton, has just returned to Lafayette from his search after him. The only trace he was able to find of him out of Chicago was from an omnibus-driver at Janesville, Wis, who informed him that he had seen a person as wering Mr. Patton's description in the depot in that place nearly two weeks before, in company with a little boy. He asked him if he wished to go to a hotel, and he replied that he did notthat the was waiting to take a train West.

Wanness Correr, Ill., Aug. 21. 1869.

The threshing machines are now settling the question as to the wheat crop of (59; but, instead of the bountiful yield promised for months past, through the press, by railway travellers and country dealers, to the greent astifaction of grain speculators, who are naturally "bears' in the market, antil they have effected a transfe of the grain from the farmer's hands into their bout eight bushels to the acre-about a one hird crop. This is the almost invariable estimate of judicious men, based upon positive factors to Warren, Knox, McDonough, and Fulton Counties along the Quincy & Chicago R. R., and upon a recent visit to Peoria, Woodford and Tazewell Counties, I found no better report is from six to ten. I do not think our farmers were very much deceived by the newspaper essumates through the summer, with all their tall of "long heads" and "plump kernels," but we are certainly disappointed in the result of our efforts, and many will doubtless abandon the "oungt hereafter to raise wheat inlarge quantities.

And since the same natural causes that have resulted in so much detriment to our crop in this region have been almost universal in their operation throughout the West, may we not well be skeptical as to the great yield being found extensively anywhere? Now, we farmers are a stopid set, I know, (we would not put on with our nasty inconvertible rag currency op with our nasty inconvertible rag currency for a month, if we were not.) and deserve to be fooled by politicians and shaved by speculators as we are; but when we think we know there is England and France how appear likely to be below an average, causing considerable deficiency there, stupid as we are, I think we shall hardly act upon the disinterested advice of Down East and Chicago apeculators, to sell shat wheat we have as seen as possible, lest is become soon totally worthless on our hands. By the way, Messrs, Ed.tors, you don't keep up your attack on the ray money shops. The people will back you up, and hope you will give them a Solferino defeat, but no armistice or Visiafranca peace afterwards.

Allow me through your paper to suggest a ew thoughts in relation to inspection of wheat in your city. The present system I deem quite faulty. In Spring wheat, for instance, a measfaulty. In Spring wheat, for instance, a more ured bushel weighing 57 lbs. is worth no more than one weighing 52 lbs.; and one weighing 51 lbs. is worth no more than one of 45 lbs. This is wrong. If weight be a test of quality, every pound indicated thereby should be respected. I would suggest the idea of taking additional weighing 59 lbs., take 62 lbs.; weighing 584 lbs. so on for any other weight. In this way it

There could be no difficulty with warehouse men; they could receive and deliver in this way I have suggested. Warehouse receipts would, of course, represents wheat weighing 60 lbs. to double the number of that at St. Louis, for Mis-souri, in July last.

As the proceedings will be published in full, I will not enter into a detail of all that was said and enacted. From the beginning to the close an undivided attention was given and a lively interest kept up. Various literary papers were read of d.cided merit, and several reports from special committees of a practical character. The report of the Executive Committee contain-ed much valuable information and presented a clear view of the state of education in Iowa. It appears there are about 230,000 persons in the commonwealth entitled to free instruction in the public schools, or those between the ages of five commonwealth entitled to free instruction in the public schools, or those between the ages of five and twenty-one years. Of these only 110,000 have been in attendance. Whole number of teachers about six thousand. In the Normal Department of the State University provision is made for the instruction of sixty pupils, but the places were not all filled.

WERELY REVIEW.—During the past week there has been an active movement of the new crops, and new iffe has been imparted to business circles generally. There has been a good shipping demand for wheat, corn, oats and other produce, and operators, instead of speculating among themselves, and keeping the market in a constant fever, have been busily engaged in filling eastern orders, or in shipping on their own account to eastern markets. So far we understand that shippers have realized a fair profit derstand that shippers have realized a fair profit sent forward; and there is a port for past week, and since the first of January last, compared with the previous year:
